

Good Questions to Ask My Advisor:

I have no idea what to major in. How can I start to figure that out?

If I major in _____, will I be able to graduate in 4 years?

What kinds of jobs can I get if I major in _____?

How can I contribute to the world's greater needs by being a _____ major?

Would adding a minor be a good idea?

Would double majoring be a good idea/what is a good complementary major/minor to consider? (I.e. Spanish)

How can I map out all the courses I will need to take for my major/minor/graduation?

How do I register for my classes?

How do I figure out my schedule for final exams?

What is the difference between semester and cumulative GPA?

How do I read my degree audit/track my own progress?

What campus resources should I be aware of?

When should I schedule another meeting with you?

My goal in life is to become _____. (Don't be afraid to discuss your goals and passions with your advisor and develop goals with them to start working towards.)

Open a discussion about what is going on in your life outside of classes (i.e. how are things with your roommate/friends, how are you adjusting to campus, what interests/hobbies do you have, any activities you are involved in (athletics, intramurals, clubs, organizations, theatre, etc.).

Ask about the best advice they were given when they were in college.

If struggling in a course(s):

What is the process for dropping a course?

What does dropping this course mean for my plan to graduate in 4 years & also my financial aid/scholarship?

How do I know which courses to retake and how might this affect my GPA?
